

Join a leading Australian university achieving international excellence

Winthrop Professor (Law) (REF: 3549)

- Two positions
- Tenurable appointments to commence as soon as possible

The Law School is seeking to appoint two eminent scholars to full-time continuing positions as Winthrop Professors of Law at The University of Western Australia. The successful applicants, who will be expected to assume important senior leadership roles in the School, will be scholars with a distinguished record of achievement in research, teaching and service. The Law School does not have any limitation on areas of expertise, but would particularly welcome applicants with research or teaching strengths in any areas of private law.

The University of Western Australia's Faculty of Law was founded in 1927 and is one of the country's premier Law Schools. Within the University's organisational structure Law is a single school faculty with an undergraduate enrolment in excess of 1400 students, drawn substantially from the top 3 per cent of school leavers in Western Australia. The School, which has five research centres, is in the process of expanding its postgraduate coursework and research degree programmes.

Enquiries regarding the positions should be directed to: Winthrop Professor Stuart Kaye, Dean and Head of School, on (08) 6488 2949 or email stuart.kaye@uwa.edu.au.

Closing Date: Friday, 24 June 2011

The University offers a flexibly constructed remuneration package with attractive benefits including generous superannuation and leave provisions, a relocation package with fares to Perth for appointees and dependants and temporary accommodation on arrival.

Application Details: The Information for Candidates brochure contains details to lodge your application and may be found at <https://www.his.admin.uwa.edu.au/Advertising/3549CandidateInformation.pdf> or via a link at <http://jobs.uwa.edu.au/> or by contacting Ms Toni Pilgrim, Human Resources, email toni.pilgrim@uwa.edu.au.
