

Proof of Causation in Tort Law:

Sandy Steel, University of Oxford

Hardback ISBN: 9781107049109
Available from September 2015

Original Price: £79.99/$125
Discounted Price: £63.99/$100
Offer Expires: 31st December 2015

Causation is a foundational concept in tort law: in claims for compensation, a claimant must demonstrate that the defendant was a cause of the injury suffered in order for compensation to be awarded. Proof of Causation in Tort Law provides a critical, comparative and theoretical analysis of the general proof rules of causation underlying the tort laws of England, Germany and France, as well as the exceptional departures from these rules which each system has made. Exploring the different approaches to uncertainty over causation in tort law, Sandy Steel defends the justifiability of some of these exceptions, and categorises and examines the kinds of exceptional rules suggested by the case law and literature. Critically engaged with both the theoretical literature and current legal doctrine, this book will be of interest to private law scholars, judges and legal practitioners.

This book is part of the Cambridge Studies in International and Comparative Law Series.

To pre-order the hardback, please visit www.cambridge.org/9781107049109 and enter STEEL15 at the checkout!

- Offers an incisive description and analysis of a difficult area of tort law, explaining highly complex legal material
- Compares different approaches to uncertainty over causation in English, French and German tort law
- Provides a clear analysis of the scope of exceptions to the requirement that the claimant prove causation