

Job ID: ESR113PM124

The Institute for European Tort Law (ETL) of the Austrian Academy of Sciences (OeAW), Austria's leading non-university research and science institution, and the University of Graz is offering a

PROJECT SCIENTIST POSITION (F/M/X)
(part-time, 30h per week)

for a duration of 12 months; position to be filled as of October 2024.

Your tasks:

- Participation in and coordination of international comparative legal projects (scientific focus: English Law/ Common Law; Comparative and European Private Law, Tort Law)
- Independent research
- Participation in English-language publications and research presentations
- Holding lectures

Your profile:

- Completed master's degree in law, with above-average success
- Sound knowledge of the Common Law system (in particular UK and Ireland)
- Excellent knowledge of tort law
- Excellent knowledge of English, both spoken and written, or English as a first language; further languages desirable
- Experience in comparative scientific work and scientific publications desirable
- Experience as a university lecturer desirable
- Experience abroad and/or ability to work in an international environment
- Good communication skills
- Team player, flexibility

Our offer:

- Interesting field of activity in an international environment
- The place of employment will be in Vienna, Austria
- There is the possibility of extending the contract after one year

We offer an annual gross salary of € 37.773,33, according to the collective agreement of the Austrian Academy of Sciences.

If you are interested, please send your application including all relevant documents, certificates/references via e-mail to lisa.zeiler@oeaw.ac.at (mentioning Job ID: ESR113PM124) no later than September 06th, 2024.

The Austrian Academy of Sciences (OeAW) pursues a non-discriminatory employment policy and values equal opportunities, as well as diversity. Individuals from underrepresented groups are particularly encouraged to apply.